Eric Wells is a litigation attorney at Fraser Stryker, focusing on white collar criminal defense, insurance defense, and an array of civil litigation matters. His background as a prosecutor makes him a formidable advocate for clients with matters ranging from government investigations and criminal charges to complex civil disputes.

Tailored White Collar & Criminal Defense Representation

Eric's firsthand knowledge of prosecutorial strategies gives him an advantage in white collar criminal defense cases. While guiding clients through state and federal criminal procedures, he strives to maintain transparency, ensuring they understand their rights and potential outcomes.

Negotiation is a central component in Eric's approach in defense cases. When evidence is strong, he works to negotiate charges or sentencing by identifying mitigating factors that impact sentencing. When a matter is set for trial, Eric's trial experience provides clients with a robust defense in court.

Civil Litigation & Dispute Resolution

As a civil litigator, Eric represents insurance defense clients, trucking companies, and small businesses. Leveraging his experience from over 20 jury trials and numerous bench trials, he understands that litigation is about achieving the best possible outcome. He collaborates closely with his clients to assess risks, weigh options, and determine the path forward that makes sense for them and their business.

If a dispute goes to trial, Eric's ability to think quickly in the courtroom provides a significant advantage to his clients. Beyond trial advocacy, he is skilled in mediation and alternative dispute resolution, evaluating both sides to manage settlements and minimize client exposure.

Beyond the Courtroom

Outside of work, Eric enjoys spending time with his wife and children. He is an avid golfer and snowboarder, culinary enthusiast, and a dedicated Iowa Hawkeyes fan.
